The present volume 2, issue 1 various aspects were discussed by the authors for "Approaching Legal System against Sexual Harassment-A Dilemma among Young Female Adults". Dr. Keerthi Mohanan well explained in this article for Legal System against Sexual Harassment. Strategies for evasion of sexual harassment are fundamental for everybody, regardless of whether female or male right from adolescence. Impression of danger from a circumstance makes a singular alert and chooses when to make a move for self-wellbeing. Techniques include understanding the means of lewd behaviour. Uncomfortable behaviour is not harassment. Information in regards to legitimate choices accessible further declines the shot at any undesirable sexual harassment. And author had briefly explained about To find out the awareness of young female adults about actions to be taken against sexual harassment including legal provisions and training to prevent and combat sexual harassment.

Finally author concluded as the greater part of the subjects remembered for this investigation showed not exactly acceptable awareness about lawful assistance accessible against sexual harassment. In this way there is need for making mindfulness about where to approach for help and detailing with respect to any sexual harassment frequency looked by casualty. More accentuation should be paid for mass instruction with respect to positive part of taking legal assistance against sexual harassment.

Dr. Persha Perez Arabani explained about "What Do Nurses Actually Need? Is It Competence or Confidence?" Qualified nurses are relied upon to be capable to practice autonomously, however a few has deficient preparing and information (i.e., modern technological equipment) important for free practice, can be in the period of transformation with the new climate and individuals, or can be from another job or undertaking, while others have abilities and information, yet needs or have little trust in trying. Medical attendants who need trust in their calling might think twice about conveyance of protected and compelling medical care that bears effect on skill.

Confidence is needed for effective engagement in multidisciplinary setting. All medical attendants should rehearse with certainty as per the code: Standards of direct, execution and morals for medical attendants and birthing assistants. In the book, Key Concepts of Nursing, confidence inside nursing practice is characterized two ways.

Finally author concluded that the attendants are quite often front line of distinguishing and overseeing patient conditions that may be dangerous. Capability on nursing is fundamental empowering arrangement of effective and safe quality patient consideration that is cost effective. Absence of certainty can thwart safe practice affecting quality execution and results.
